A. Personal Statement

I am a Hematology & Oncology Specialist, and Principal Investigator at Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital-Somerset. I completed my undergraduate training at the State University of New York and earned my medical degree from the University of Bologna (Bologna, Italy). Following my internal medicine internship, I accomplished residency training in internal medicine at UMDNJ-Rutgers Medical School. I have considerable experience in cancer and blood disorders. My clinical and research interest are in breast, colorectal, lung and prostate cancers. I am committed to ensuring patients receive the best treatments delivered in the best ways, and to use better research-driven strategies to protect and preserve the health of survivors.
