

“Everything in the World Is Doubled”: English and/as Translation in 21st Century Asian Writers’ Anglophone Fiction

Professor Fujii is a scholar of American Literature and an award-winning translator. He has translated several works by immigrant and minority writers, including Octavia E. Butler, Alfian Sa'at, Gina Apostol, and Ling Ma. He is currently working on a translation of Colson Whitehead's Harlem Shuffle.

HIKARU FUJII
UNIVERSITY OF TOKYO

Tuesday, Oct. 18th 4:30-6pm

Rutgers University

Alexander Library, Pane Room

Co-sponsored by the Department of Asian Languages & Cultures/Global Asias