

01:44:15 patriciaacudd: a thought. The definition of a painting has expanded, why not book arts?
01:44:35 Elaine Gongora: When someone asks me what is an Artist Book I don't have a concise answer. And I make these.
01:45:31 Michael Joseph: Mimi, library catalogers are generally trained in book cataloging, and so they're not trained in artists' book structures. And the library of congress, the agency that defines cataloging practices, hasn't developed a professional vocabulary for catalogers to use. The CAA and RBMS have taken stabs at this, but the field is still too hot.
01:46:01 marilynrosenberg: When I am asked what do I do? I create artists' books/bookworks
01:46:28 Miriam Schaer: No different person
01:48:05 Carol Freid: So if you were a book what kind of book would you be and what shape would you be could be the beginning of a dialogue
01:48:22 Michael Joseph: Great, Corina! Let's be in touch.
01:48:41 Michael Joseph: Thanks, Pam. g2g!
