Title: Newest Americans Newark Story Bus

Funding agency: Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation

The Newest Americans project, a collaboration between Rutgers' Center for Migration and the Global City and Talking Eyes Media, received a $25,000 grant from the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation's Informed Communities program. The grant will support the Newark Story Bus, a mobile photo and audio studio that will partner with local community-based organizations to collect stories from Newark residents and support curriculum development and instruction for Newark public school teachers and students. As a Dodge Informed Communities grantee, Newest Americans has engaged with other Informed Communities recipients in bimonthly strategic conversations about how to support community-based media and expand the regional media ecosystem to better reflect underrepresented perspectives and underfunded producers of media in New Jersey.
