

Principal Investigator: Patrick Shafto

Title: Artificial social intelligence through optimal cooperation

Funding agency: Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency

How can we develop AI that teams with human partners to create superhuman intelligence? We propose new approaches to understanding human-machine teaming through a combination of pure mathematics, novel computer science models, and behavioral experiments. Taken together, we offer a roadmap to developing AI that can understand people's beliefs and goals and enable them to perform at superhuman levels.