Please join us at Rutgers University-Newark for a celebration of Spanish, Portuguese, and Latinx poetry and culture!

Our day-long event for NJ high school students will include Spanish, Portuguese, and Latinx poetry recitation competitions, as well as student-written monologue or poetry recitation in the target languages. We will also have talks on culture and language, and opportunities to tour campus.

A detailed schedule and more information, including the list of poetry for recitation and guidelines for the student-written monologues or poetry for live performance, will be sent out to registered participants in January 2023.
